SMITH ACCEPTS BURKE RETIRES AS NEW STATE OFFICE ELK'S SECRETARY

Leaves Head Bookkeeper's Desk to Become Assistant State Accountant.

Frank Smith, who has for years been chief bookkeeper in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, has accepted the position of Assistant State Accountant, and will enter upon his new duties on May 1. He will be associated in the office with Captain Carlton McCarthy. The appointment was made by the Joint Auditing Committee of the General Assembly.

It is desired that in future the duties pertaining to the office of State Accountant should be extended so as to permit of a more comprehensive study as well as examination of the books of the State departments and institutions, and of the public officials of the counties and cities, who are calling more and more upon some central State authority for help.

Mr. Smith, whose home is in Washington county, was tendered the position and accepted it. Auditor C. Lee Moore has not as yet selected his successor, realizing that the work of drawing a daily balance of the State's affairs is one of the utmost importance. "It is of no avail to assess and collect taxes," he said yesterday, "if we do not know what our situation is at all times."

In his view of his equipment Mr. Smith was selected by Governor Swanson to establish a system of book-keeping and accounting in the office of the Second Auditor.

It is understood that Major Charles G. Klier, of Norfolk, who has been previously stated, was offered the position of chief clerk to the Auditor, will accept. He is now Chief of Police of Norfolk, and was a candidate before the Democratic caucus of the last Legislature for the position of Register of the Land Office.
